LIBROS RECIBIDOS

Casullo, Albert. Enssays on A Priori Knowledge and Justification, New York, Oxford University Press. 2012, pp. 344.

Preface. Acknowledgments. Introduction. 1. Kripke on the A Priori and the Necessary. 2. Necessity, Certainty and A Priori. 3. Revisability, Reliabilism, and A Priori Knowledge. 4. Causality, Reliabilism, and Mathematical Knowledge. 5. The Coherence and Empiricism. 6. A Priori Knowledge. 7. Epistemic Overdetermination and A Priori Justification. 8. Testimony and A Priori Knowledge. 9. Analyzing A Priori Knowledge. 10. Knowledge and Modality.11. Intuition, Thought Experiment, and the A priori. 12. Counterfactuals and Modal Knowledge.13. Conceivability and Modal Knowledge. 14. Articulaing the A Priori-A Posteriori Distinction.

Ed. Rusell, Gillian and Graff F. Delia. The Routledge Companion to Philosophy of Language, New York, Routledge, 2012, pp. 924.

Notes and Contributors. Acknowledgments. Introduction. Section I Core Topics. 1.1 Extension, Intension, Character and Beyond. 1.2 Semantics and Pragmatics.1.3 Logical Form. 1.4 Presupposition. 1.5 Implicature. 1.6 Pragmatic Enrichment. 1.7 Meaning and Communication. 1.8 Compositionality. 1.9 Focus and Intonation 1.10 Context-Sensitivity. 1.11 Relativism. 1.12 Vagueness. 1.13 Empty Names. 1.14 Relevance Theory. 1.15 Truth and Reference in Fiction. Section II Foundations of Semantics. 2.1 Reference. 2.2 Theories of Truth. 2.3 Propositions. 2.4 Concepts. 2.5 Analytic Truth. 2.6 Possible World Semantics. Dynamic Semantics. Event Semantics. Skepticism about Meaning. Section III Parts of Speech. 3.1 Names. 3.2 Verbs. 3.3 Adjectives. 3.4 Quantifiers and Determiners. 3.5 Generics. 3.6 Anaphora. 3.7 Descriptions. 3.8 Plurals. 3.9 Adverbs. 3.10 Mass Terms. 3.11 Indexicals and Demonstratives. 3.12 Indicative Conditionals. 3.13 Subjunctive Conditionals. 3.14 Questions. Section IV Methodology. 4.1 The Role of Experiment. 4.2 The Role of Linguistics. 4.3 The Role of Psychology. 4.4 The Role of Mathematical Methods. 4.5 The Role of Artificial Languages. 4.6 The Role of Intuitions. Section V Logic for Philosophers of Language. 5.1Model Theory: What it Is and What it Isn't. 5.2 Logical Quantifiers. 5.3 The Logic of Time and Tense. 5.4 Modal Logic and its Applications to the Philosophy of Language. 5.6 Many-Valued Logics. 5.7 Dynamic Logic in Natural Language. 5.8 Intuitionism. Section VI Philosophy of Language for the rest of Philosophy. 6.1 Philosophy of Language for Epistemology. 6.2 Philosophy of Language for Metaethics. 6.3 Philosophy of Language for Metaphysics. 6.3.1 The Language Causation. 6.3.2 Dispositional Expressions. 6.4 Philosophy of Language for Normative Ethics. 6.4.1 Language, Gender and Sexuality. 6.4.2 Language and Race. 6.5 Aprioricity. 6.6 Meaning and Necessity. 6.7 Propositional Attitude Reports. Section VII Historical Perspectives. 7.1 Ancient Philosophy of Language. 7.2 Medieval Philosophy of Language. 7.3 Modern Philosophy of Language. 7.4 Frege, Rusell, and Wittgenstein. 7.5 Logical Positivism and Quine. Ordinary Language Philosophy. 7.7 Pragmatics and Context: The Development of Intentional Semantics. 7.8 A Brief History of Generative Grammar. Index.

Hung, Edwing. Philosophy of Science, a Text on Traditional Problems and Schools of Thought, USA, Cengage Learning, 2013, pp. 512.

General Introduction: What is the Philosophy of Science?. Chapter 0 A tale of Two Theories: The Story of Light. Book I Traditional Problems: Truth, Explanation, and Reality. Part I Basic Types of Reasoning in Science. 1 Hypotheses. 2 Deductive Reasoning. 3 Inductive Reasoning. 4 Statistical and Probabilistic Reasoning. Part II The search For Truth. 5 Empirical Discovery of Plausible Hypotheses. 6 Empirical Evaluation I: Indirect Tests and Auxiliary Hypotheses. 7 Empirical Evaluation II: Crucial Test and Ad Hoc. 8 Theoretical Justification: Theories and Their Uses. 9 Conventionalism and the Duhem-Quine Thesis. Part III The Quest for Explanation. 10 Covering-Law Thesis of Explanation. 11 Universal Laws of Nature. 12 Probabilistic Explanation and Probabilistic Causality. 13 Teleological Explanation, Mind, and Reductionism. Part IV The Pursuit of Reality. 15 The Classical View of Scientific Theories. 16 Realism Versus Instrumentalism. 17 Critiques of the Classical View. 18 Antirealism I: The Empiricist Challenge. Intermezzo: So, How Does Science Work?. Book II Schools of Thought: (Rationalism, Empiricism, Positivism, and Constructivism). Part V Rationalism and Empiricism. 19 Rationalism and Then Empiricism. 20 Problems of Empiricism IA:

Hume´s Problem. 21 Problems of Empiricism IB: Goodman´s Paradox and Hempel´s Paradox. 22 Problems of Empiricism II: Problems of Empiricism II: Problem of observation. Part VI The Classical Dynasty. 23 Logical Positivism. 24 Popper´s Falsificationism. Part VII The Weltanschauung Revolution. 25 Introduction: Two Paradigm theories. 26 Kuhn I: Normal Science and Revolutionary Science. 27 Kuhn II: Incommensurability and Relativism. Part VIII Towards History, Sociology, and Artificial Intelligence. 28 Lakatos: The Revisionist Popperian. 29 Laudan: The Eclectic Historicist. 30 History, Sociology, and the Philosophy of Science. 31 Antirealism II: The Constructivist Rebellion. 32 Artificial Intelligence and Philosophy of Science. Epilogue. Bibliography. Index.

Pinker, Steven. Language, Cognition, and Human Nature; Selected Articles, New York, Oxford University Press, 2013, pp. 392.

Introduction. 1 Formal Models of Language Learning. 2 A Computational Theory of the Mental Imagery Medium. 3 Rules and Connections in Human Language (with Alan Prince). 4. When Does Human Object Recognition Use a Viewer-Centered Reference Frame? (with Michael Tarr). 5 Natural Language and Natural Selection (with Paul Bloom). 6 The Acquisition of Argument Structure. 7 The Nature of Human Concepts: Evidence from an Unusual Source (with Alan Prince). 8 Why Nature and Nurture Won´t Go Away. 9 The Faculty of Language: What´s Special about It? (with Ray Jackendoff). 10 So How Does the Mind Work?. 11 Deep Commonalities between Life and Mind. 12 Rationales for Indirect Speech: The Theory of the Strategic Speaker (with James Lee). 13 The Cognitive Niche: Coevolution of Intelligence, Sociality, and Language. Author Biography. Credits. Name Index. Subject Index.

Jaworski, William. Philosophy of mind: a comprehensive introduction, Malaysia, Willey-Blackwell, 2011, pp. 424.

Preface. 1 Mind-Body Theories and Mind-Body Problems. 1.1 Mind and Brain. 1.2 Mind-Body Theories. 1.3 Mind-Body Problems. 1.4 The Problem of Psychophysical Emergence. 1.5 The problem of Others Minds. 1.6 The Problem of Mental Causation. 2 The Mental-Physical Distinction. 2.1 Mental versus Physical. 2.2 Physical Phenomena. 2.3 First-Person Authority and Subjectivity. 2.4 Qualia and Phenomenal Consciousness. 2.5 Intentionality, Mental Representation, and Propositional Attitudes. 2.6 Rationality. 3 Substance Dualism. 3.1 Substance

Dualism: Its Claims and Motivations. 3.2 The Argument For Substance Dualism. 3.3 Objections to the Argument For Substance Dualism. 3.4 Substance Dualism and the Problem of Other Minds. 3.5 The problem of interaction. 3.6 Noninteractionist Views: Parallelism and Occasionalism. 3.7 The Problem of Explanatory Impotence. 3.8 Substance Dualism in Perspective. 4 The Physicalist Worldview. 4.1 What Physicalism Claims. 4.2 Varieties of Physicalism: Eliminative, Reductive, and Nonreductive. 4.3 Implications of Physicalist Theories. 4.4 Motivations For Physicalism. 4.5 The Argument For Physicalism: Past Scientific Success. 4.6 Hempel´s Dilemma. 4.7 The Knowledge Argument. 4.8 Absent and Inverted Qualia. 4.9 Representational, Higher-Order, and Sensorimotor Theories of Consciousness. 5 Reductive Physicalism. 5.1 Behaviorism. 5.2 Arguments For and Against Behaviorism. 5.3 The Theory Model of Psychological Discourse. 5.4 The Psychophysical Identity Theory. 5.5 Smart´s Argument For the Identity Theory: Ockham´s Razor. 5.6 Lewis´s Argument For the Identity Theory. 5.7 Reductivism. 5.8 The Multilevel Worldview. 6 Nonreductive Physicalism. 6.1 The Multiple-Realizability Argument. 6.2 Reductivist Responses to the Multiple-Realizability Argument. 6.3 Functionalism versus the Identity Theory. 6.6 Functionalism and the Nonreductivist Consensus: Realization Physicalism. 6.7 Troubles with Functionalism: Liberalism and Qualia. 6.8 The Chinese Room. 6.9 The Embodied Mind Objection to Functionalism. 6.10 Kim´s Trilemma. 6.11 Supervenience Physicalism. 6.12 The Exclusion Argument. 6.13 Nonreductive Physicalism in Perspective. 7 Eliminative Physicalism, Instrumentalism, and Anomalous Monism. 7.1 The Argument For Eliminativism. 7.2 The Argument Against Eliminativism. 7.3 Instrumentalism. 7.4 Arguments For and Against Instrumentalism. 7.5 Anomalous Monism. 7.6 The Argument For Anomalous Monism. 7.7 Arguments Against Anomalous Monism. 8 Dual-Attribute Theory. 8.1 Dual-Attribute Theory versus Physicalism and Substance Dualism. 8.2 Nonorganismic Dual-Attribute Theories. 8.3 Epiphenomenalism. 8.4 The arguments For Epiphenomenalism. 8.5 Do Qualia Exist? 8.6 Dennett´s Argument Against Qualia. 8.7 Wittgenstein´s Private Language Argument. 8.8 Arguments Against Epiphenomenalism. 8.9 Explaining Emergence: Panpsychism, Panprotopsychism, Psychophysical Laws and Structure. 8.10 Emergentism. 8.11 Arguments For and Against Emergentism. 8.12 Dual-Attribute Theory in Perspective. 9 Idealism, Neutral Monism, and Mind-Body Pessimism. 9.1 Varieties of Idealism. 9.2 The Motivation and Argument For Ontological Idealism.

9.3 Arguments Against Idealism. 9.4 Neutral Monism. 9.5 The Arguments For and Against Neutral Monism. 9.6 Mind-Body Pessimism. 10 The Hylomorphic Worldview. 10.1 What is Hylomorphism?. 10.2 The Hylomorphic Worldview. 10.3 Organic Composition and Functional Analysis. 10.4 The Concept of Organization. 10.5 Hylomorphism and the Multilevel Worldview. 10.6 Hylomorphism versus Physicalism and Classic Emergentism. 10.7 Causal Pluralism. 10.8 The Argument For Hylomorphism. 11 A Hylomorphic Theory of Mind. 11.1 Patterns of Social and Environmental Interaction. 11.2 Rejecting Inner Minds. 11.3 Externalism. 11.4 Inner Experiences versus Sensorimotor Exploration. 11.5 Disjunctivism. 11.6 Direct Access, Pattern Expression versus the Theory Model. 11.8 Hylomorphism versus Behaviorism. 11.9 Embodiment. 11.10 Hylomorphism and the Mental-Physical Dichotomy. 11.11 Hylomorphism and the Problem of Psychophysical Emergence. 11.13 Arguments For and Against a Hylomorphic Theory of Mind. Glossary. References. Acknowledgments. Index.

PARA LA PRESENTACION DE ORIGINALES

Autor: Apellido completo e inicial del nombre separados por coma. Desde la segunda vez en adelante sólo Apellido. En ambos casos seguido por coma.

Título de libros y revistas: En cursiva.

Título de los artículos aparecidos en revistas, de ensayos publicados en obras colectivas, de capítulos o partes de libros:

Entre comillas « ».

Entre los diversos datos: Puntuación únicamente con comas.

Para los libros, indicar a continuación: Lugar de edición, editorial, año de edición, eventualmente el año de la primera edición entre paréntesis.

Para las revistas y toda publicación periódica, indicar a continuación número del volumen, seguido por año entre paréntesis, tomo y número o fascículo. Además, si la revista no es conocida, póngase después del título, entre paréntesis, el nombre de la ciudad e institución donde se publica.

Abreviatura de páginas: p. (si una sola), pp. (si dos o más), p. y ss. (si se reenvía a una parte).

Volúmenes o tomos: Indicar en forma abreviada "vol." o "t." seguido del número romano.

Para las notas, si se trata de una cita textual, póngase directamente autor, título, etc.. Si se trata de una referencia, póngase Cf. Autor, título, etc. Lo mismo vale para un texto ya referido.

Si la nota que sigue hace referencia al mismo autor y al mismo ensayo u obra, póngase sólo Ibidem (en cursiva), si se trata de la misma página; Ibid. seguido de coma y p. ó pp. y número de la página o páginas, si ésta es diferente.

Si el texto que se cita está en un volumen que recoge varios ensayos o en una obra colectiva, se pondrá la preposición ' en ' seguida del apellido e inicial del nombre y, entre paréntesis, (Ed.) o (Coord.). Si el autor del artículo y el editor o compilador coinciden, póngase (Id.).

Cuando se vuelva a citar un texto ya identificado, póngase el apellido del autor, el título abreviado (las tres primeras palabras) seguido por ..., cit., y las páginas.

Eventuales bibliografías irán por orden alfabético de apellidos.

Las citas deben estar insertadas en el texto y entre comillas. Si tienen más de tres líneas, pónganse como nuevo párrafo, con un reducido espacio entre los renglones, en letra un punto más pequeño y dejando tres (3) espacios en los dos márgenes.

Para indicar omisión de palabras o de pasajes: póngase tres puntos entre corchetes [...].
